Willingham Mere Archaeological Excavations 31 May–10 June

Experts from Cambridge Archaeological Unit had a very productive few days excavating the edge of the historic Willingham Mere, with the help of a team of local volunteers.

Aerial photos highlighted the Mere's location, as the soil was a different colour to the surrounding area. Boreholes were dug in advance, to confirm the exact location of the Mere's edge, as this was where the archaeologists expected to find a wide range of artefacts.

Thirty six different volunteers got dirt under their fingernails as they uncovered bits of wood, bird bones, plant seeds and pollen that have been buried since the Bronze-Age (around 2000-650 BC). The continual water-logging throughout time has been crucial for preserving the remains.

Around 150 people visited the site, and about 60 went to the evening presentation in Willingham Baptist Church, to learn more about the environmental history of this area. Did you know, for instance, that there was a time when you only needed to go to Earith to be at the sea-side? That was a few thousand years ago, however. More recently, the Romans built a dam, and Willingham Mere formed behind it – at times it was 5 metres deep and about 1 kilometre square.

Bones have come from coots and mallards, and there were seeds from yellow-flag irises. I think many people were hoping to find bones from beavers or Dalmatian pelicans – both have been found locally in previous excavations. The evidence suggests that beavers were hunted, or even farmed, by one community, and that the pelicans were breeding in the Bronze and Iron Ages, when the climate was warmer, and the landscape was an extensive marshy delta.

I dipped a net into a field ditch next to the excavation site, and hauled out water snails that were identical to some of the shells that were unearthed from the Bronze-Age level.

Archaeologists are excavating sites ahead of digging for Needingworth Quarry, and discovering a vast amount of information about the environmental and human history of this part of the Ouse Valley. By identifying the plants and animals that lived in the area, at different eras, we can build an image of what the landscape was like. This can then inform the way the land-forming is done after aggregate extraction.

This project was supported by Hanson, RSPB and the Wright family, who farm

You may have noticed that the front cover looks a little different this month. We hope you approve. It now incorporates the winners' Logos following our success at the Community Magazine Awards Ceremony. We hope you will also notice and like the minor changes within the magazine. We would like to acknowledge the enthusiasm and expertise of Sean Baker, of Axis Design, Over, who does the layout and design for the Willingham News.

Far from 'resting on our laurels,' we are wondering how to maintain the high standard and perhaps win another award next year. We are inviting readers to write in and let us know what you would like to see included in your magazine and how you feel it could be further improved.

Willingham News is now also available on the Willingham Life website but one of our readers has another suggestion regarding electronic access to information. See Kate Worzenkraft's letter on the 'Letters to the Editor' page.

When you read this the school summer holidays will be approaching. See the Willingham Library article for one idea to keep the children busy!

From the Parish Council

Guided Busway:

The County Council assure us that they are getting closer to opening the busway and report that a new contractor has been appointed to remedy the various defects. At the same time work is underway to provide a blacktop surface cycleway all the way to Milton Road, which should provide a much more pleasant and safe route between Willingham and Cambridge. The County Council do ask, however, that no attempt is made to access the route until work is complete as heavy construction vehicles are operating in numerous locations. Warning signs are in place.

Once the defects are remedied and the new work is complete there will be a further period of testing and driver training so opening is still a little way away but we will continue to keep you up to date on progress.

Library:

Friends of Willingham Library (FOWL) met in early June for their AGM and to discuss the future of the library. The meeting was again well attended with strong support to find a solution which keeps it open. A further meeting is planned with County, Parish, Library Services and FOWL in mid July.

Maintenance Matters:

The Parish Council receives a large number of reports on maintenance issues. The following are some examples of those currently being actioned. The sunken hydrant on Over Road is being chased with Highways. The lamp posts on the Green have been painted to blend in more sympathetically with the area. Overgrown trees in the Cemetery will be dealt with shortly. The Jubilee field has had various repairs and upgrades with regard to the play equipment and the new kissing gate. Regular checks are carried out by the Parish Council to ensure this is a safe environment to play in and enjoy.

In another example of community spirit, Willingham Action Group has agreed to undertake the task of clearing ivy from untended headstones in the cemetery. They have set a date of the morning of Saturday 16 July. If you have some spare time and are willing to help you will be very welcome. WAG asks you to come along from 10 am onwards with some garden tools and gloves. The contact is Graham Mumby, graham@gwmumby.co.uk – telephone 260553.

Feast Weekend:

October may seem a long way off but it will arrive in a blink and with it once again the Feast Weekend so brilliantly organised last year by Willingham Action Group. More information will follow on this event in coming months but for now we wanted to let you know that Thurston's Fair, which attends every year, will this year change their days of arrival and departure. They are due to arrive on Thursday 6 October and will depart in the evening on Sunday 9 October.

Art Work:

In a combined effort from youth involved with the Willingham Traveller and the Connections Bus projects, a mural has been produced and will be on display from 17 June on the outside of the Ploughman Hall. It is a very striking piece of work and if you have not seen it already it is well worth taking a look.

New Councillors:

The Parish Council has co-opted two new Councillors. They are Councillor R Manning and Councillor D Clarke. Ray Manning will be well known to many of you and brings valuable experience at both village and district level. David Clarke is new to the council and brings considerable experience of the pavilion and sports activities. The Parish Council welcomes them on board. We are fortunate in having on the council a good cross section of talented individuals and grateful for the time they give.

Introducing new patient services at Willingham and Longstanton Surgeries

We are pleased to announce that we will be offering two new initiatives from 1 July:

- on-line appointment booking
- and a practice email address.

But please don't worry. This does not mean that you cannot still speak to our friendly receptionists. These are merely extra services we are offering for those that may wish to use them. We want to maintain the personal touch and our receptionists are definitely here to stay!

On-line appointment booking For the first few weeks we will be offering nurse appointments on-line and when we feel that both staff and patients are confident with the new system we will introduce doctor appointments. Please contact reception if you wish to register yourself for this service.

Practice email address: willinghammedicalpractice@nhs.net

This is for general non-urgent enquiries about the practice and cannot be used for clinical queries or to make, amend or cancel appointments. We will aim to respond to general queries within 48 working hours.

NHS Choices website: www.nhs.uk will take you to the NHS Choices Website which has a wealth of information about NHS services including details of all GP practices. If you wish to find details about our surgery click 'Find GP Practices', enter Willingham or a postcode and then click on 'Willingham Medical Practice'. This will give you lots of information about our practice. You can search for any NHS service on the website and compare with others. There is also much helpful advice on all aspects of NHS care and medical conditions.

Change to opening hours at Longstanton Branch Surgery

From July 1 we are replacing our short Monday afternoon surgery session with a longer morning surgery. Our new opening hours at Longstanton will be:

Monday – Friday 8 30 am – 1 00 pm.

Childhood immunisations In view of the recent measles outbreaks both in Europe and here locally, we urge all parents to check that their children are up to date with their immunisations and to respond to reminders for overdue vaccinations. It is especially important to ensure that children receive their pre-school boosters on time. Measles can have some serious medical side effects so please protect your children and those around them by making sure that their immunisations are complete. If unsure please ring the surgery for advice.

Giving up Smoking If you have received support, advice and smoking cessation aids from our team please don't forget to let us know whether you have managed to quit. Similarly, if you have been successful in giving up smoking on your own initiative please tell us so we can update your records. If we have not heard from you we may try to contact you for an update. If you would like to give up smoking please do contact the surgery for an appointment with a nurse or doctor or speak to one of our pharmacy team.

Acknowledgements Our grateful thanks to family and friends of Edward Gilbert who made donations to the Surgery Equipment Fund in his memory.

Over Day Centre's 5 Pub Challenge

The 5 Pub Challenge was extremely successful both in terms of the walkers' reactions and the funds likely to be raised for the Over Day Centre.

The final amount raised awaits the sponsorship figure but we do know that this year 295 people took part compared to last year's 240 which has resulted in fantastic progress towards meeting our target to raise sufficient money in the next few years to buy a replacement bus, which will be used to ferry clients to and from Over Day Centre.

Our thanks to all those people who participated and to the pubs which played such a vital part in our success.

Next year the 5 Pub Challenge will be held on Sunday 13th May 2012.

If possible, please make a note in your diary and, perhaps, pass this date on to anyone who needs to know.

See you next year.

John Dyer

Sincere congratulations on the prizes for the Willingham News. Truly richly deserved. The magazine has made an incredible difference and is essential to our community fabric. So thanks.

Paul Knighton

As a busy mum and proud resident of Willingham I find, when juggling family, work and other commitments, that I sometimes miss village events. This is partly due to my disorganisation, but other times it's down to the fact there's a lot going on in the village, which gets missed when skimming through the hardcopy of the Willingham News.

It is great that the Willingham News is now online at www.willinghamlife.org, and our village seems to be going from strength to strength but I wonder if we could add a little more. Could Willingham News, or simply reminders about events in the village, be sent via email? We have a great new system at the school called, ParentMail, which sends the Newsletter by email to parents. It has had very good feedback from many parents.

I propose that if Willingham residents would like to receive event reminders and/or Willingham News via email, they send in their email address to the Editor (which of course would be kept confidential), and have it added to a Willingham News email group.

The frequency of reminder emails would have to be decided, but I thought that if more people attend events in the village, particularly those which are in aid of the school and groups, more money would be raised for good causes.

Air Cadets Go Under Cover to Prepare for Wing Field Weekend

On Saturday, 11 June, Air Cadets from 2524 (Oakington) Squadron Air Training Corps attended a one-day training exercise at RAF Barnham – near Thetford Forest – in preparation for what they hope will be a momentous Wing Field Weekend in June at RAF Wyton. They took part in practical exercises following weeks of classroom training – including Camouflage and Concealment, cooking lunch from an MoD ration pack, assembling 'Bashas' (a small tent like structure made from the use of a poncho, some twine, and tent pegs between two suitable trees), to Tactical Communications – simulating the search and recovery of a 'lost' aircraft data pod.

Approximately 450 Cadets as well as 200 members of staff from the Bedfordshire and Cambridgeshire Wing Air Training Corps descended upon RAF Wyton in Cambridgeshire for their Annual Wing Field Weekend from Friday 10 to Sunday 12 June.

Bedfordshire & Cambridgeshire Wing ATC is always seeking new members – both Cadets and Adult Volunteers – for more information please visit www.BedsCamsWgATC.org or telephone 01223 210954

Library Review Update

The effort to keep Willingham Library open is continuing and is now in the phase of detailed discussions regarding exactly what resources the community will need to find in terms of building costs and staffing, and how these could be found. A meeting is planned between representatives of Willingham Parish Council, Friends of Willingham Library, the County Library Service and our County Councillor at which these points will be discussed, and there will be a report in next month's Willingham News.

Regarding staffing, at the Friends of Willingham Library meeting on 8 June more than 20 people put their names forward as volunteers to help man the library, so we can safely say that it will not close for lack of volunteers to run it. However, there can never be too big a pool of such people, so if you missed the meeting and would like to put your name forward, please tell a member of the Library staff. Once again the current Library staff were praised for the great job they do and they will be greatly missed in the very likely event that the community will be unable to raise sufficient money to pay them.

One way of contributing to the costs of the building is by hiring it for your meeting or club during the hours that it is closed. It is a welcoming and cosy space, ideal for small groups, so if you are interested please contact the staff.

Engage in the Afternoon

These are special sessions for adults on the first Wednesday of each month from 2 to 3 30 pm. There are speakers, tea/coffee/biscuits and a chance to change books and use the computers. It's free but donations are welcomed towards refreshments.

Future Speakers:

- Wednesday 6 July – Philip Saunders – Willingham in the Cambridgeshire Archives
- Wednesday 3 August – How to solve Cryptic Crosswords

Willingham Gardening Club

Meetings are on the first Monday of each month at the Willingham Social Club, Fen End and start at 7 30 pm. There is usually a speaker on a subject of interest to gardeners and plant lovers and from time to time on subjects of wider interest. On average, meetings last about one and a half hours. There is always a plant raffle.

The Club welcomes new members at any of our monthly meetings. If you are a plant lover/enthusiast or just want to see whether you could become interested, come and join us to see whether you want to become a member at a very modest annual subscription of £10. You may attend one meeting to see what we do and speak to members and to the committee informally.

In addition to the meetings we have an annual programme of visits to gardens and other places of interest.

Contact Celia on 01954 261394 or just turn up to a meeting to see for yourself what we do.

Club Meeting Monday 4 July – the meeting will include a talk by Hilary Thomas on Pots and Containers.

Outings – Our next outing will be to the world famous RHS gardens at Wisley in Surrey on Saturday 16 July, leaving the Green at 8 30 am. Other pick-up points may be arranged with Celia on the above number. Non-members are encouraged to join us at a cost of £20 inclusive of coach travel and entry fee. The cost for members is £17.

There is something for everyone at Wisley. Wisley has one of the best rock gardens in England and the huge herbaceous borders, rose collection and vegetable gardens should be at their best. There is also an area of small display gardens, flowering shrubs and woodland walks. The water gardens and ponds are well stocked with fish and flowering iris and there are plenty of places to sit and relax. The tropical and temperate greenhouse is superb and it is also surrounded by delightful herbaceous borders. There is an excellent plant and garden centre and the refreshment facilities are good. We have visited Wisley on a number of occasions before but these are year round gardens and we have not visited in July for sometime. This is a must for anyone who loves plants.

If you wish to travel with us contact Celia on the above number.

Willingham Youth Club

Willingham Originalz, the village's youth club, meets in the Baptist hall every Wednesday of term time at 6 30 pm.

Show schedules will shortly be available at shops and the library giving details of the various classes and age ranges. We need your support and participation. Proceeds after expenses are donated to charity

Last year's winners of cups and trophies will shortly be contacted to arrange their return to the Club ready for this show.

There will be an outing on Saturday 24 September, the venue for which has yet to be fixed.

The Christmas shopping trip will be to Birmingham (The Bullring and main city centre shops) on Wednesday 2 November). Further details to be published later.

Pastoral Letter

After five months in Willingham I'm often asked if I've settled in. The expected answer is probably 'yes' but the truthful answer has to be 'no'. Consequently I feel the need to clarify that my 'no' doesn't mean that I don't like it here or necessarily that I'm finding life difficult. Not feeling settled-in stems from life in Willingham being very different to life in my previous parish which was set in the Derbyshire coalfields and the difference in culture of the two places is as different as the Fens are from the Peaks.

One of the great joys of being a parish priest is being involved in the momentous points of people's life-stories. Rites of passage moments: birth, marriage, death and those things happen in all parishes. I have already been immensely privileged to share in all of these special occasions here, greeting newly born babies, dealing with couples whom I will soon be marrying, holding the hand of someone who is dying and of course taking funerals. The same, you may think but handled differently according to local culture. Even knocking on someone's door is done differently here!

So, no, I'm not settled in. I'm still learning and adjusting to the tremendous wealth of new ways of doing things, all part of life's rich tapestry. This is also described by a phrase that Jesus uses 'Life in all its fullness'. Quite literally, God offers us a life that is tremendously rich; full of all sorts of things and never dull or boring if we take up the challenges. But Jesus also meant something else by this phrase. He was talking about life eternal. I can remember a time when I thought this might mean wafting about in white on a cloud, maybe playing a harp. I thought this sounded incredibly boring! Fortunately the Bible makes it quite plain that's not what eternal life is. Eternal life begins in all its fullness here and now and extends in the same way after bodily death. Heaven will be this world made perfect. Now that sounds a whole lot more exciting and inviting to me. How can we get there? Jesus tells us, saying 'I am the way'. We will not get there by being good - we only get there THROUGH Him.

If that seems to be a bit of a culture shock in itself, please do come along to one of the Willingham churches and find out more about it. You never know, one day you may be able to ask me in heaven if I've settled in. I am certain that my answer there will be 'yes'!

OAKINGTON AIR CADETS

2524 (Oakington) Squadron ATC was formed in April 1975 and is run by a team of volunteers. Cadets range from 13 to 20 years old.

Parade nights start with drill practice – drill is an important way of instilling a sense of self-discipline – and we then move on to cover a wide range of projects, lectures, field-craft and initiative exercises. Lectures and projects are an integral part of the cadet syllabus, which ultimately leads to a BTEC in Aviation Studies. Lectures cover the full spectrum of aviation-related subjects, while projects build both personal and practical skills.

The Air Training Corps (better known as the Air Cadets, or ATC) is the RAF's cadet force, divided into six regions, 36 wings and more than 900 squadrons across the UK.

Our aims are to:

- Promote and encourage a practical interest in aviation and the Royal Air Force among young people.
- Provide training which will be useful in the Services and civilian life.
- Encourage a spirit of adventure and develop qualities of leadership and good citizenship.

Bedfordshire & Cambridgeshire Wing ATC is always seeking new members – both Cadets and Adult Volunteers – for more information please visit www.BedsCambsWgATC.org or telephone 01223 210954

JOTTINGS FROM YOUR COUNTY COUNCILLOR

A few letters and e-mails during the last month has brought home to me that the differing functions of the County and District Councils can be very confusing (even for those who are supposed to know), so I thought I would give a brief run down of some of the things the County Council is responsible for:

Highways – excluding the A14 and M11; we look after the County's roads and footpaths. This includes repairs, surface dressing, potholes and winter gritting; if you have a problem with your road you can now report it using the County's website: <http://www.cambridgeshire.gov.uk/transport/roads/reportingafault.htm>. Although we are responsible for roads and signs, street names remain the responsibility of the District Council.

Streetlights – except where they are owned by the Parish Council. County Council lights, which form the vast majority are identified by CCC followed by a number, although as I discovered recently the identity number may be missing; you can report a faulty streetlight by going to: www.cambridgeshire.gov.uk

Libraries – there are 46 libraries and library access points across the County, including at Littlehey and Whitemoor Prisons. A review of libraries is currently taking place and it is expected that the service will be delivered by a charitable Trust in the future.

Education – although the County Council does not run schools, it is responsible for ensuring that there are sufficient places and that the quality remains high.

Museums and Archives – we run the Cromwell Museum and also hold the County's archive collection, along with material from many parish councils.

Births, marriages and deaths are all registered at the County Council, either at Shire Hall, or registration venues across the County.

We support elderly people who need support, either through provision of care packages, or funding for what is called self-directed care; we also support children in need, young people in care and children with disabilities who need additional support.

We work closely with our District Councils because although they are responsible for collecting our waste, we dispose of it (the Civil Servant who thought that one up during local government re-organisation in 1974 must have had a weird sense of humour). We also run nine recycling centres across the county.

In addition to this, we also have responsibility for things such as animal welfare, trading standards, air quality, rights of way and strategic planning.

It is now much easier to report problems, or seek information from the County Council via: http://www.cambridgeshire.gov.uk/do_it_online

Alternatively, I will always do my best to give you an answer, even if I can't always provide a solution.

I can be reached at the address or telephone number below.

Oldwillingham.com Photo of the Month

Cecil Gleaves, a Willingham resident of long standing, comments on the May High Street picture:

The shop 'in front of' the Public Hall (that is to the south of it) was not Haynes (not Haines) grocery store, but the Co-op. It was a single-storey building, with a high, elaborate fascia.

Haynes was at that time where the Co-op now is. It was a grocery on the ground floor, with clothing etc on the first floor. The family lived in the adjoining house (now flats). The shop was still there in the 1940s.

The Haynes building then became the 'new' Co-op. For a short time, while alterations were being carried out, the Co-op operated from a temporary building where the car park now is.
